SUMMARY

The invention concerns anti-clusterin oligoclonal antibodies able to recognize and bind in a selective and specific way antigenic epitopes of clusterin isoforms to be used in tumours diagnosis and in the prediction of their malignancy grade, diagnostic method and related kits.